Faculty

Although the Riverside faculty underwent many changes, it still remained one of the best in the area.

*With revisions and improvements in curriculum, faculty members had to educate themselves

As the school system continued to expand with additions to old facilities and the construction of new ones, the Northeastern Beaver County Board of Education capably directed its growth. Although members were faced with many important decisions, they managed to find prudent solutions to their problems

District Secretaries: Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Grandey, Miss Main.

New policies were formed by Administrators.

Edward C. Shaffer, Superintendent of Schools

C. John Brannon, Principal

Although there were changes in two of the three top positions, the administration continued in its task of running an excellent institution of learning. Mr. Edward C. Shaffer remained at the helm of the administration, and under his capable guidance the school district continued to progress. Although the area regretted the loss of Mr. Leslie H. Marietta, Mr. C. John Brannon proved his competency as the school's new principal. He was ably assisted by acting Assistant Principal Mr. Vern McKissick, who served in the absence of Mr. Charles Krepps

Vern L. McKissick, Assistant Principal

Guidance Department

Students desiring advice on either current problems or future plans were capably guided by Mr. Cornell and Mr. Marziano. These two counselors gave freely of their time and knowledge to students on an individual basis, and all students were encouraged to fully utilize their potential. The counseling was intensified in the senior high when preparation was necessary for the students' ultimate careers. Free literature enlightened the students concerning college, trade schools, and job opportunities.

Robert Marziano, Sr. High Guidance.

Arthur J. Cornell, Jr. High Guidance.

Secretaries

By providing friendliness to students and service to teachers and administrators, the secretarial staff proved itself indispensable in the efficient functioning of the school. The staff was responsible for the organization of files, permanent records, and all other official information. Their tasks included anything from assigning passes to tardy students to typing exams for teachers. However, the main duty of the secretarial staff was to free teachers from time-consuming clerical duties.

Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Boots.

Social Studies viewed world problems.

A well-rounded program of past and current history highlighted the Social Studies Department this year. Students sought answers to the problems of democracy, studied the cultures of the world, and delved into the history of America. Into the teacher's hands fell the burden of preparing students for a role in society. All these combined efforts proved fruitful and necessary to tomorrow's citizens.

Languages reflected foreign cultures.

As our world became smaller each day, communication with foreign neighbors achieved a zenith of importance. However, the Riverside Language Department proved equal to the task by offering three foreign languages which rendered an adequate start for those who desired to speak fluently. Two years of Latin, three of Spanish, and four of French were available with additions appearing likely in the near future. Linked with a capable faculty, this program provided a well-rounded curriculum in language arts.

English and reading have always been and shall continue to be the basis of education. In addition to grammar and composition, English students became familiar with great authors from far and near, in place and time. Meanwhile, seventh and eighth grade students were prepared for a world of written material in reading enrichment classes.

Throughout the ages, mathematics has developed into a very essential part of our life. Mathematics is used in practically everything we do—from counting change at a store to hurling a missile through space. The Math Department at Riverside did its best to acquaint the student with basic fundamentals and challenged him to pursue his aspirations to fulfillment. At the top of the list was Riverside's second Advanced Math Class, which faced theories and ideas new not only to them but to the world as well

Culture was appreciated through Fine Arts.

Developing culture among Riverside students was the task of the Fine Arts curricula. Concerts, both vocal and instrumental, offered the audiences a great range of music, from classical to contemporary.

By working closely and individually with the students, the Art Department achieved the dual accomplishments of developing latent imagination and creative talents. The success of Mr. Freshcorn and Miss Hays was displayed at the annual Art Exhibit.

Evidence of the growing facilities at Riverside could be found in the library. Here students enjoyed the latest in an ever-widening variety of books and periodicals. The reading room was used by those who wished to take advantage of this latter type of literature. Students could also make use of a number of reference books and encyclopedias that would help them in classroom assignments and reports.

Through Library Science classes, students in the junior high became acquainted with the library and its uses. Some interested students were given first-hand experience in library management by helping as library assistants.

Students learned by testing laws of science.

By exploring the diverse fields of science, each student was given the opportunity to catch a glimpse of the uncharted worlds of technology through the examination of theory and the study of fact. Emphasis was placed not on memorizing but on questioning and speculating. In this way each student was taught to think, and by learning the laws of nature he was made aware of the why's of existence.

Commercial courses gave business experience.

Riverside's commercial department offered to the interested student a broad background from which to draw experience applicable to his future in business. The department instructed each student in all phases of business, giving him an advantage vital to success in today's competitive world. The school also provided excellent equipment and a staff which proved superior in many ways. This department gave us another example of the matchless curriculum offered by the school

Driver Education taught highway safety.

To decrease the number of accidents and thus increase safety on the nation's highways was the goal of Driver's Education. To achieve this goal, Mr. Ellenich divided the classes into two parts — classroom discussion and actual behind-the-wheel experience. In the classroom, students gained a general knowledge of their rights and obligations as licensed drivers. Students then were given an opportunity to apply this knowledge in actual driving situations.

Health and Physical Education

During the past year the Health and Physical Education Departments dealt with everything from bones to basketball. From a thorough study of the body and its needs, the students were able to understand the importance of physical fitness.

Through strenuous competitive games in gym classes, participants found that exercising can be fun, while in the health classes, the students learned why exercising in this manner is a necessary part of life.

Home Economics

The hum of the sewing machines and the tantalizing smells that floated down the halls brought an abundance of attention to the Home Ec. room. Realizing that all girls needed the fundamentals of home economics, Riverside established an outstanding department which developed female talents in sewing, cooking, home management, designing and child care.

Home Economics prepared girls for the future by providing them with the basic fundamentals of being a housewife. Mrs. Rentz, F. Connor.

Medical Services

Under the supervision of School Nurse, Mrs. Maxine Kalcevic, the Health Department treated maladies varying from upset stomachs to bloody noses. She also took charge of eye and ear tests and assisted with the physical and dental exams. Completing the medical staff were Dr. K. M. McPherson, physician, and Dr. Augustine Krkuska, dentist.

Mrs. Kalcevic demonstrates the proper application of a splint to J. Lutz

Cafeteria Staff

Despite several personnel changes in the cafeteria staff the lunchtime meals at Riverside remained superb. A variety of well-prepared lunches were served to many students each week. Even students who carried lunches purchased submarine sandwiches and pizza. With the student body enlarging again this year, it was necessary for these women to plan more carefully and work diligently to continue providing efficient service and well-balanced meals.

Custodians

If one would envision a huge castle visited daily by hundreds of itinerant guests, he would perceive a mere shadow of the many problems faced by the custodians at Riverside High School. Under the capable supervision of Maintenance Superintendent Clyde Bowers, the staff worked constantly to provide a clean, wholesome atmosphere for the students and faculty.

Senior Hi-Y

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character" was the objective of the Senior Hi-Y Club. In order to attain this goal, the club held night discussion meetings once each month to supplement the regular meetings. They also co-operated with the Senior Tri-Hi-Y in the annual Christmas toy drive.

The highlight of the year for the National Honor Society was the annual Induction Ceremony held February 15. Students who had been recognized as having the qualities of leadership, scholarship, service, and character, were pledged into membership. Both new and old members further exhibited these characteristics by tutoring students who requested help and assisting teachers when necessary.

To raise funds for activities, one of which was a good-will project for the community, the club sponsored a movie-dance in November.

F.N.C. supplied glimpses of nursing.

The Future Nurses Club has a twofold purpose. The first is to familiarize the student with careers in the medical field. This was achieved through engaging various speakers and taking the annual tour of area hospitals. The second purpose is to serve the community in any way possible. This was accomplished through the club's project "Hands Across the Sea" when items were collected for use in Viet Nam. Club members were also kept busy helping in the Health Suite, and received more firsthand nursing experience through volunteer hospital work at Beaver Valley General Hospital.

Senior G.A.A.

Encouraging participation in athletics for all girls is the purpose of the Senior High Girls Athletic Association. The girls participated in many interscholastic activities during the year including a swim event and a track and field playday at Riverside, and a playday at Aliquippa. Spring activities for the club included a swim show, a dance, and tennis intramurals, with the annual G.A.A. Banquet climaxing the active year.

Science Society whetted interest in research.

Organized to promote an interest in the basic sciences and encourage scientific research, the Science Society held field trips once a month. These field trips offered exploration into many of the different branches of science. For instance, fossil hunts gave the members a glimpse into the world of geology, and star gazes showed them some of the elementary phases of astronomy.

F.H.A. advanced ideals of homemaking.

A busy year for the Future Homemakers Club included two special projects. One was the second annual Christmas Coffee Break for the faculty, and the other was a profit-making project of selling cookbooks. During the year, the members were also kept busy by serving at many of the school-sponsored banquets. At their regular meetings, the members learned many varied household arts. Established to promote interest in the game of chess, the Chess Club brought many hours of enjoyment to chess enthusiasts of all grades. The club welcomed not only those students who were already skilled at the game, but also those who were willing to spend many hours learning tactical maneuvers on the chess boards, or playing chess by mail. The club spread its influence throughout the school via the annual tournaments which were open to the entire school body.

Teaching experience was gained in F.T.A.

The high ideals of the teaching profession were best exemplified in the sophomores, juniors and seniors composing the Future Teachers of America. An active group at Riverside this club helped sponsor projects that were beneficial to the school.

During Teaching Career Month and National Education Week, members were involved in actual teaching situations which, hopefully, did not disillusion them.

Cheerful help characterized Library Club.

Efficiently assisting Mrs. Huling in the library was the chief purpose of the Library Club. Besides arranging shelves and magazines and checking out books, library assistants also aided students in locating reference material which could be utilized for termpapers and reports. The main project of the club was the annual book sale during which students could obtain copies of their favorite novels in paperback editions.

National Thespians

Dramatics was a medium through which the emotions of a few were transmitted to many, and the promotion of dramatics was the purpose of National Thespians. To become a full member of the club, students were required to serve one hundred hours by working in plays and on committees. Through this stage experience the individual developed his personality and gained self-confidence and creative expression. As service projects, the club produced skits for church groups, civic organizations and assemblies, in addition to the highlights of the year, the Senior class play and the all-school play.

Senior Art Club

In addition to further developing the creative talents and abilities of artistically-inclined students, the Senior Art Club succeeded in bringing an appreciation of sculpting, painting, and drawing to the district as a whole. This was accomplished by displaying the works of Riverside students at the annual art exhibit. By holding at least one meeting a month after school, the club gave members an opportunity to explore in depth subjects taught in class.

Forensic League

In its first year of inter-school competition the debate team of Riverside became an affiliate member of the National Forensic League. The club is composed of students from grades 9-12 interested in the principles of debate. Under the guiding voice of Mrs. Wasilewski chapter 1406 practiced once every week after school and traveled for NFL competition on Saturdays. Extemporaneous speaking and confidence before an audience were common aspirations of this worthy organization.

One of the most helpful clubs at Riverside this year was the Business Club. This club consisted of interested seniors who had one year of typing and were enrolled in a business course. As a money-making project, the club typed and mimeographed materials for organizations and various individuals. Many students utilized the services of this club for term papers and reports.

Varsity "R" Club rewarded athletic achievement.

Sponsored by all of the school's coaches, the Varsity "R" Club continued as one of the most progressive organizations at Riverside. This group was responsible for two of the school's biggest social events — the Hoe Down and the Christmas Dance.

Consisting of the school's finest athletes, the Varsity "R" Club sold cider in order to provide sufficient funds to purchase athletic jackets for its deserving members. These jackets and other awards were presented to members at the annual All Sports Banquet which was held in the spring.

Jr. High Student Council.

Junior High Students were introduced to the functions of student government through the efforts of the Junior High Student Council. This council, which consisted of representatives from each seventh, eighth, and ninth grade homeroom, worked much like its senior high counterpart. Besides attending several conferences and workshops, the council also aided the Senior High Council in various projects, such as the clothing and food drives.

Bibs were collected by Jr. Tri-Hi-Y members and given to the McGuire Memorial Home

Jr. Tri-Hi-Y served by molding character.

Probably the most active junior high club at Riverside this year was the Junior Tri-Hi-Y. Of the club's activities, the most memorable for its members were the swimming party and the annual Spring Spectacular, which was held at Butler. In the latter the girls participated in various sports events with other area Tri-Hi-Y clubs.

Combining good-will projects with their regular activities, the girls made bibs and collected baby food for McGuire's Children's Home in New Brighton. Under the capable leadership of club sponsors Mrs. McElwain and Miss Dambach, the girls learned to work together in serving their home, school and community.

At these meetings plans were made for club projects and activities, such as evening "teen talks", where discussions concerning current problems strengthened citizenship and clean ways of living.

Theatrical training learned by Jr. Thespians.

Training students to speak and act in front of an audience was the essence of the Junior Thespians Society. Members with little or no acting experience were provided with opportunities to nurture their talents through skits and plays that were put on for community organizations and school assemblies.

Through monthly meetings the members received valuable information that would improve their acting. These meetings also afforded members excellent opportunities to speak before an audience.

In May, letters were given to the ninth graders who displayed acting ability that would enable them to become members of Senior Thespians. Trophies were also presented to the year's best actress and actor.

Members of the Junior Thespians used their talents to prepare and present skits at the monthly meeting. J. Kozlar, K. Hinkle.

Gettysburg intrigued Junior Historians.

In its second year of existence, the Junior Historians maintained a busy schedule and continued as an asset to the school. Promoting an interest for the history of the United States and Pennsylvania, the club took an unprecedented trip to the national shrine at Gettysburg. Under the efficient leadership of Mr. Deal and Mr. Melfi, the organization also conducted a general school clean-up.

Serving the students of Riverside was the objective of the school newspaper, the High Tide. The High Tide this year was all new. Combining the talents of the Journalism students and Miss Delaco, their teacher, the High Tide underwent a complete change over last year's paper. To start off the newspaper sales, the staff sponsored a Junior High Dance. Subscriptions were then sold in the homerooms. The success of the paper was due to the enthusiasm of the class and their teacher who worked with the purpose of bringing the news of the school to the students.

"That action is best which procures the greatest happiness for the greatest numbers" (Hutcheson). This statement seemed to sum up the goals of the Riverside Junior High Girl's Athletic Association this year. Through the Junior G.A.A. over one hundred junior high girls were given ample opportunity to participate in such action sports as basketball, volleyball, bowling, and swimming.

English Club challenged student creativity.

Beginning with an assembly which featured portions of Gretchen Hazen's European visit, the English Club continued in its second year of existence. Besides printing the Troubador, and conducting "Good Grammar Week" the club succeeded in sharpening the students' awareness of English culture.

"Moonlight Serenade" . . . an enchanting eve.

The Junior Senior Prom stood as a monument to the unity and labor of the Junior class which built and envisioned it. The co-chairmen, Vicki Aaron and Boyd West, carried out the theme, "Moonlight Serenade" by reconstructing a park from the Gay Nineties.

Over 150 couples spent many enjoyable hours at "Moonlight Serenade" which was a tribute to the ingenuity of the Class of 1966.

Preparations for a wonderful evening included several hours at the beauty salon.

The Senior High Band served as an ambassador for the community.

An interest in music, hours of concentrated study, and outstanding performance were the criteria which earned Riverside's Panther Band an invitation to the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C. In preparation of this event, the band and its director, Mr. David E. Brooks, displayed their talent at numerous area parades and community programs.

At the annual band banquet deserving band members received jackets in recognition of their hard work and ability. Other awards were in the form of participation in Honors, Midwestern District, and Regional Bands.

Concluding the year in appropriate fashion, the band performed the years' finale at the annual Spring Concert which, as usual, set an excellent standard which would be difficult for any following band to surpass.

Wind Ensemble

Popular music and classical compositions could not only be heard from the Concert Band this year but also from the Wind Ensemble. During eighth period on Tuesdays and Thursdays one would find talented students of the Wind Ensemble busily practicing for the up-coming Christmas and Spring Concerts. Under the direction of David Brooks both concerts were very successful. Although no awards were presented to Wind Ensemble members for their love of music, they were able to further their study and knowledge of the different types of music.

Junior Band

The Riverside Jr. High Band under the direction of David Brooks showed their marching and musical ability by participating in their first parade. Although these marches played an important part in the musical education of the Junior High student, traditional concert music played at the spring program exhibited that through combined efforts, they could produce a sound comparable to that of the Senior Band.

Mixed Chorus

Learning music for Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, and Spring concerts were but a few of the assignments given to the Mixed Chorus. Under the direction of Mrs. Neil Mack, these senior high students had to first familiarize themselves with the basic fundamentals of music. These "basics" had to be practiced so that in the end the chorus would have an air of perfection, to be thus tested through their programs.

Concert Choir

Under the musical supervision of Mrs. Mack, this year's Concert Choir rose to new heights of tonal excellence. Composed of interested Juniors and Seniors, the choir served and represented the school well by performing at assemblies, the Spring Concert, and civic functions. Junior High Chorus

By gaining a valuable knowledge of general music and vocal techniques the Junior high students, under the supervision of Mrs. Neil Mack, prepared for senior high choruses. Excellent defensive play and consistent pitching played the key roles as the Riverside High baseball team vaulted from a fourth place finish in 1965 to the Section IV Championship in 1966. The Panthers finished with a section record of 11-1, the only loss being a 4-2 defeat at the hands of second place Monaca. The Panthers only other defeat was a 3-0 extra-inning loss to Ellwood City in the playoffs.

Panther hurlers Ray Ott, with an 8-2 record, and Ken Brandenberger, with a 3-0 mark, combined for a 0.70 earned run average while constantly baffling opposing hitters until the Panther offense was able to scramble for some runs. Standing behind the pitching staff was a solid defense which always managed to execute the big play at a critical moment.

Anxiously awaiting the outcome of the game, Coaches Oliastro and Ellenich endure the final out.

Varsity track team achieved best season.

Spirit, determination and long hours of practice were the decisive factors which made the 1966 Riverside track team one of the best in the school's history. Compiling a 7-1 record, the Panthers overshadowed their three point loss to Union with resounding victories over rivals Seneca Valley and Shenango. The Panther thrashings showed strength in all events with Chuck Kotuby, Jim Tritt and Rod Jackson pacing the runners while Eugene Adams sparkled in the field events.

At the W.P.I.A.L. finals the Panthers made an excellent showing as Rod Jackson became the new 110 champion and Chuck Kotuby finished second in the mile.

All Sports Banquet feted deserving athletes.

At the annual All Sports Banquet Riverside's athletic program was evaluated and rewarded accordingly. After a fine meal and a long procession of awards and speeches, the crowd of athletes, coaches and parents settled down to the highlight of the program which featured Dr. Harold Burry, Athletic Director and Head Football Coach at Westminster College, as main speaker.

Voted by his teammates as the individual who most helped his team, Bill Sobeski accepted the Outstanding Trackman Award.

This year's cross country team portrayed the fine example of determination which has become a tradition at Riverside. Enhanced by a perfect regular season, the squad continued its winning ways as they placed first in three important meets—Central Catholic Invitational, the M.A.C., and the W.P.I.A.L. The team then advanced to the state meet where they finished second to highly-touted Spring Grove.

Crossing the finish line far ahead of his nearest opponent, W.P.I.A.L. Class B champion Chuck Kotuby adds another link to his chain of victories

After a dismal 4-8 start, the '66-67 Riverside basketball team rebounded to post an 8-1 record over the rest of the season to finish with a 12-9 mark, making it the best in the school's history. Competing in Section 20 of Class B for the first time, the Panthers started with an unimpressive 1-4 mark. However, a thrill-packed 48-46 victory over rival Mohawk instilled new spirit in the team, and the Panther quintet went on to win eight of its last nine, and the last six in a row, including an emotion-filled 73-72 triumph over league champion Slenango. The 9-5 Section 20 mark earned the team a second-place tie with Union, the highest league finish ever by a Riverside team.

Spearheading the Panther attack was record-shattering senior Eugene Adams, who was the leading scorer in Section 20 and was named to the All-Section 1st team. Adams also set the school mark for most points in a season, 511, and most rebounds, 411. Backing up Adams were two of the best backcourt men in the league — Tony Nocera, who was ninth top scorer in league action; and Bill Rutter, who was perhaps the best ball handler in the Section

Junior Varsity developed confidence.

Constant hustle along with a desire to win paved the way for several exciting Junior Varsity games this year. Despite their record of 8-12, Coach William Melfi and his squad deserved a better fate as they lost a number of games by one or two points. The team was led by Tim Martin, who served as the team's playmaker while scoring 260 points. Burt Lauten supplied the rebound strength, and was also second high scorer with 176.

Hard work and determination are two of the most important characteristics of any basketball team, and the 1966-67 Junior High basketball team, under the direction of Mr. George and Mr. Ellenich, certainly portrayed these qualities. The team completed the season with a successful nine and nine record. The high scorers for this year's team were Denny Stacy with a total of 212 points and Dean Strosnider with 159.

Bowling League

Approximately 68 students participated in the school's Saturday bowling program. These students were divided into ten teams which opposed each other in heated competition throughout the year. Individual and team trophies were awarded to winners at the close of the season which lasted from September to May. Besides sponsoring a singles and doubles tournament, these top student bowlers waited patiently in anticipation of the annual student versus faculty showdown which again proved to be a student morale builder

Under the leadership of Captain Peggy Osborne, Co-captain Darcey Dooley, and Sponsor Miss Karen King, the Green Marlins had a vigorous year. The girls practiced three nights a week, sometimes swimming 68 underwater lengths of the pool. The swim team also participated in meets with area high schools in preparation for next year's A.A.U. competition.

Seniors upheld new standards of excellence.

On becoming seniors the members of the Class of 1967, like all classes before it were shocked into the realization that their days to play, work and be together were numbered. This thought brought together a widely different and diversely talented class and welded it together to achieve a unity that was previously impossible. Then sharing with one another the joys and sadnesses of their final year, the Class of 1967 devoted its energies toward a wide range of activities resulting most memorably for them in exclusive senior projects — the class play, class parties, and the senior dinner-dance.

As we leave the now empty, dimly-lit halls of Riverside to face the myriad tasks of the future, only remnants of our high school achievements remain.

*These remnants will not only serve as a challenge to future classes
but will come alive
in the cherished memories of our Alma Mater.*
